Lubbock's Christmas Lights to Receive Special Recognition from LP&L

December 15, 2004

For Immediate Release:

Officials of Lubbock Power & Light have been touring around town, looking at Christmas decorations. They've decided this is an outstanding year for outdoor holiday displays at homes throughout the city; and they've also decided the best of the best should be publicly recognized.

LP&L, therefore, is offering cash prizes---$100 for first place, $50 for second place, $25 for third place---to the winners of a home Christmas lighting contest. Nominations will come from Lubbock's news media, which keep up well with the local scene and which will submit their selections by December 22. LP&L will do the final judging and announce winners on Christmas Eve.

There are no restrictions on types of displays, except that the locations must be residential. LP&L Executive Director Carroll McDonald says, "It's just creativity and the Christmas spirit that count."
